

Autzen >>>>

Allen: Where students of the Journalism program should really be paying their rent money

Autzen: Home of the Ducks. They may say it never rains in Autzen stadium but it hard to leave there without getting wet.

Bean: The oldest and most asbestos-ridden dorm building. Bean's amenities also include lead-riddled piping, very public restrooms and the ability to high five your roommate while you are both in bed.

Bikes: Common method of transportation for people with an eerily good sense of balance and a love for freezing hands in the rain.

Birkenstocks: Favored shoe of hippies, outdoorsy-types, and girls wanting to be trendy. The open-toed sandals are often referred to as "Air Bethlehems" for their remarkable similarities to Jesus sandals.

Brail's: Home to the worlds best hangover breakfast (this one isn't funny its just delicious)

Caffeine: The only known way to get yourself to class on a winter term morning when the sun hasn't been seen in three weeks. Also a catalyst for every paper that is due at midnight.

Columbia 150: An excellent place to take a nap during lectures

Common Grounds: Where every pound of the "freshman 15" begin as a cheesy griller and artichoke dip.

Crevice: A mythical place that can only be found when extremely intoxicated. This narrow path between two buildings is an excellent place to relieve yourself in a dire scenario but, stay too long and you soon find yourself covered in rain of dubious origins.

Daily Emerald: The student news publication on campus that has apparently won numerous awards however, no one on campus is aware of this fact because no one except the staff and Journalism faculty read it

Dough Co.: A delicious and dangerous option for late night food due to the 50-50 likelihood of your high ass falling asleep before its delivered.

Dutch Bros: Sugar disguised as coffee

EMU (Erb Memorial Union): another clever ploy by the University to encourage to students to spend more money.

Fathoms: A place you remember walking into but, not out of. Also, PIZZA.

Football: see Saturdays

Foreign Exchange: Responsible for 90% of cigarette and sports car sales in the city of Eugene. They can often be found roaming campus in straight lines with no regard for who is walking around them and staring blankly in your discussion section due to their lack of knowledge of the English language. Also an excellent revenue stream for the University of Oregon.

Fraternities: A mostly-pointless and extremely exclusive way for freshman boys to make friends. Fraternities are responsible for most of the nightlife for underage students and are responsible for the creation of *****

Fuck-It Bucket: The drink of choice for a student celebrating everything from a birthday to just surviving their classes that day; served only at the famous Taylor's.

Game Day: Saturday home games during the Fall semester where it is not unlikely to see young college-aged males shotgunning beers for breakfast and yelling "sco ducks". Drunk students can be found littering the streets all day and bothering local families who are "just trying to enjoy the game". Although the students claim to love the Ducks most do not remember going to the games and almost all leave by halftime.

Gateway: The easiest "hard" class any J student has taken. Professors like to refer to it as the "gateway to hell" but, it is really just the gateway to an easy major.

Homeless Population: A unique subset of the Human race found roaming the streets of Eugene, rain or shine. Some believe they are possess magical powers, other beg for money, all are high on methamphetamine.t They are responsible for 99.9% of items stolen from front porches and are most easily found rummaging through trash cans.

HPFMH: an acronym used by drunken wandering Eugene to remember the order of streets after Alder. It stands for Harry Potter Fucked Me Hard

Hydroflask: a glimmering beacon of hope when you wake up hungover in the morning. Also a clever way to sneak booze anywhere.

IntroDucktion: A weekend orientation hosted for incoming freshman over the summer and most students first exposure to "gender-appropriate pronouns"

Jacqua: A frivolously expensive tutoring center for student athletes

Juul >>>>

Joke Book Guy: An old man who resembles Santa Claus pedaling the "world's funniest joke book" on 13th near campus.

Juul: A small device that looks oddly similar to a USB but, is actually a gateway to nicotine addiction

Kale: Food of choice for local Oregonian hippies

Knight Library: Where all hopes and dreams go to die

Kombucha: No one really knows what this odd beverage is however, rumor is it contains a very small alcohol percentage.

Lillis: Home of the business school and young students hoping to join corporate America. Also a lot of math... eww

Marcus Mariota: Living proof that there is a god. The former Heisman-winning quarterback led the Ducks to the national title game and has created a Eugene fan base for the Tennessee Titans. Nicknames include: Flyin' Hawaiian, MariGOATa.

Math 111: The one thing standing between Oregon students and a college degree. The class is the most-failed on campus due in large part to misguided freshman enrolling for classes scheduled before noon.

Max's: Where every good night at the bars goes to die

Nike: The de facto sponsor of the University of Oregon, it is rumored that to be admitted to the school you must own at least 5 items of Nike branded clothing

Phil Knight: A University of Oregon alumnus, founder of Nike and A man better known as "Uncle Phil" to students.

Pollen: This devilish particle causes intense outbreaks of allergies during the spring term

Portland: Where a student of the university is from if they are not from California.

Puddles: The mascot for the University of Oregon who is usually found harassing people in the student section or doing push-ups after a Ducks touchdown.

Rain: The ruiner of plans, shoes, morale and vitamin D.

The Rec.: (Short for Recreation Center) the only place on campus that students can exercise off those 8 beers they had last night.

The River: The beautiful Willamette river is home to many crazy homeless people, drunk walks to Autzen on game day and freshman trying to smoke weed without getting caught by their RA's

"Running of the Bulls": The day that freshman girls who have participated in recruitment receive their bids and running screaming the streets of Eugene like a pack of rabid dogs or zombies.

Ruth: The most prolific provider of alcohol to minors in all of Eugene

Saturdays: see Game Day

Spencer's Butte: The closest hike to campus making it an optimal spot for young women to photograph themselves "enjoying nature"

Squirrels: Friendly creatures who inhabit the thousands of trees on campus. No one has been able to prove it but, there are conspiracy theories that they are planning a coup of the University governing body.

Taylor's: U of O's hallowed and storied center of student life. They have been serving blackouts, mistaken hookups and hangover for nearly 100 years. The bar is also responsible for deciding that Wednesday is officially part of the weekend.

Vegan: Don't worry they will tell you they're a vegan. These individuals have a strange sense of entitlement due to lack of proper nutrition.

Webfoot: The bar you go to when all else fails

Weed: Something you used to have to buy from that sketchy guy you knew in the dorms but, is now sold in overpriced fancy boutiques peddling gummies and "cbd pens". When ingested this mildly psychedelic substance is likely to cause: hunger, paranoia, dry mouth, silence, and short memory loss.

21er: A night you will surely hear about from your friends but almost certainly not remember. This sacred holiday marks one's admittance to the mystery place known as a bar.
